CSU Foundation to partner with Flournoy Construction to develop regional technology park near Fort Benning

BY LARRY GIERER - lgierer@ledger-enquirer.com

Columbus State University Foundation Properties Inc. will partner with Flournoy Construction to develop 174 acres adjacent to Fort Benning's Sand Hill Complex to serve as a regional technology park.

CSU spokesman John Lester said the school, which owns the land, feels the property, because of its proximity to all major training and troop unit concentrations, makes it an ideal location for defense contractors doing and seeking to do business at Fort Benning.

The property is within a 10-minute drive to Fort Benning's Infantry School and the New Armor School location at Harmony Church.

"We've been looking for more ways to partner with Fort Benning," said Lester.

More details will be announced Wednesday.
